

Workshops

Through its workshops, the Autorité de la concurrence brings together experts, economic actors, academics and institutions to exchange views and insights. The workshops provide a space to examine key issues surrounding market functioning, innovation and competition regulation, in an open and collaborative setting.

“Economics and Sustainability” Workshop

The Autorité de la concurrence is organising a workshop on “Economics and Sustainability” in Paris in late September 2026. The workshop will bring together researchers and practitioners specialising in environmental economics, industrial economics and competition law. Discussions will focus on methods for valuing environmental benefits and harms, and their practical application in competition analysis.

Ahead of the workshop, the Autorité is launching a call for papers.

- Submission types

The workshop welcomes academic papers (theoretical or empirical), ongoing research, methodological notes and applied case studies, including work arising from collaborations with public institutions.

The organisers are especially interested in submissions that analyse the extent to which the proposed methods meet the requirements of competition law enforcement, in particular with regard to: (i) operational applicability; (ii) integration into the methodological framework of competition analysis; and (iii) evidentiary robustness.
