

The Autorité de la concurrence clears the takeover of Charles & Alice group by the Crédit Mutuel group

Published on June 11, 2021

On 25 May 2021, Crédit Mutuel Equity, a subsidiary of the Crédit Mutuel banking group, notified the Autorité of its plan to acquire exclusive control of the Charles & Alice group, active in the marketing of fruit compotes and desserts, in supermarkets and medium-sized stores and in out-of-home catering (collective catering, brasseries, restaurants, etc.).

Considering, after investigation, that the transaction is not likely to harm competition, the Autorité cleared the transaction without condition.
