

- 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 * United Airlines boarding pass

A United Airlines boarding pass serves as your central travel credential, and many passengers keep additional contact information—such as personal help numbers or coordination lines like the one you noted,  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815—close at hand while navigating their trip. The boarding pass itself contains your full name as it appears on your reservation, along with your flight number, operating carrier (United or a codeshare partner), and the exact travel date. It lists  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 your departure and arrival airports using their three-letter IATA codes, your scheduled departure time,  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 and the estimated arrival time based on the flight plan. Seating details  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 such as your assigned  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 row and seat letter, cabin type (Economy, Economy Plus, First,  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 or Polaris Business), and sometimes fare class codes are also displayed. Boarding logistics are clearly marked, including your gate, expected boarding time, and your boarding group—an important element since United boards in structured groups from Pre-Boarding through Group 6. Security and identity data appear in the form of a barcode or 2D Aztec code that stores ticketing information used by TSA officers and United's  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 scanning systems. Many passes also show indicators like  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 TSA PreCheck, priority status, baggage allowance markers, upgrade eligibility, or special-service notes such as “SSSS” for enhanced screening. If you have connecting flights, those may also be printed or listed digitally. In the United app or  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815 mobile wallet, the pass adapts to a more compact format while still containing all critical information, making it easy to reference your details, stay aware of gate changes, and keep any personal support numbers you choose—such as  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815—readily accessible as you move through the airport.  - 855 ↗ 510 ↗ 5815
